

GREENWOOD-HURLEY IN DEADLINE SENATE PARLEY

DECIDE TODAY WHO WILL BE CURLEY FOE

By BERNARD J. DOHERTY

At a final conference between Lieutenant-Governor Joseph L. Hurley and Mayor Robert E. Greenwood of Pittsburgh today, it will be decided whether one or both candidates for the Democratic nomination for United States senator shall oppose Governor Curley in the September primary.

In addition to ending the regular session, both the lieutenant-governor and the Pittsburgh mayor are entered in the November election, Greenwood using the phrase, "For Slopes Representation," as his designation, and Hurley embracing the Union Party label.

The dead line for withdrawal of candidates is 3 p. m. today.

O'Brien to Stay

Negotiations looking to the withdrawal of Dist. Atty. Thomas C. O'Brien as the Union Party senatorial candidate in favor of the lieutenant-governor, instead, until late tomorrow, it was stated, when O'Brien, who has been named as the candidate for Vice-President, left for Cleveland to attend the National Union for Social Justice.

A close friend of the former Suffolk County prosecuting officer, Edward O'Brien was in the editorial column to day.

The Battle between Greenwood and the lieutenant-governor centers on Hurley's independent candidacy after the primary.

Greenwood, who is a Republican, is extremely friendly to the Roosevelt administration. The Union Party is vigorously opposed to the President.

CURLEY ADVANTAGE

Any action between the lieutenant-governor and the Greenwood faction, it is pointed out, would be taken on the basis of a withdrawal by Hurley of his independent nomination papers for the election after the primary.

With Greenwood and Hurley both opposing Governor Curley for the Democratic nomination for senator to the primary, the Governor would have the advantage. It is argued, as the opposition would be split two ways. Of the two Hurley is looked upon as the stronger candidate, because he is better known than Mayor Greenwood.

LOSER SUPPORT

Aside from this point, any single opponent of the governor would be sure, it is argued, to attract to himself all of the anti-Curley votes.

Off to Colorado For Week With Family

Youngful admirers of Topeka, Kansas, make up a majority of a send-off group in the Kansas city as Governor Alfred M. London, Republican candidate for President, starts to visit his family in Estes Park, Colorado. The G. O. P. candidate will remain in Colorado for a week.

Within the Democratic Party, which regards Curley as its only foe, there is a split of considerable magnitude.

The Greenwood preference to swing the full blow for the present national administration, rather than serving the nomination on his own account, is also the support of a considerable group within the party who are determined that the fundamental of the democracy must be preserved at all costs.

'ROOSEVELT DAY'

President Is Cleveland Guest

Cleveland, Aug. 14 (AP)—President Roosevelt received the smiling of Ohio's largest city as he arrived here this morning to visit the Great Lakes Exposition.

Gov. Martin L. Davis, Senator Robert L. Taft, Mayor Harold H. Burton and other officials greeted the President at his special train, which arrived at the city station at 10:30 a. m.

A program had been mapped out for the Executive designed to show him as much as possible of Cleveland and to show as much as possible of Cleveland to the President.

Leaving the station through streets lined with cheering throngs, Mr. Roosevelt was taken first, by a route through the entire downtown section of the city, to the municipal airport where a 12,000,000 WPA project providing employment for 6,000 men is under way.

He was next to be taken to the hotel, the highway, an $8,000,000 WPA job.

Officials of the Great Lakes Exposition had proclaimed today "President's Day" in Topeka, Kan., in honor of the President's visit.

Mr. Roosevelt was to attend a luncheon aboard the exposition show boat where he was to speak informally. He will give a radio talk tonight.

LONDON PLANS FISHING TRIP

Estes Park, Colo., Aug. 14 (AP)—Gov. Alfred M. London planned his first fishing trip today, after having taken an unbroken rest since his arrival here at his vacation ranch in the Colorado Rockies.

The Governor was to whip nearby streams in hopes of bringing home a mass of mountain trout for the family table. Mrs. London has been telling the Governor some fine fishing tales about her father while he remained at his gubernatorial duties in Topeka. A quiet rumor reached newspapers that the Governor wanted to return his own position as a fisherman.

The Governor will board his special train at LaSalle, Colo., instead of Denver as previously announced, eliminating a hurried departure on the morning of Aug. 20. He will board the train at LaSalle at 4:20 a. m. Mountain standard time.

Danville, Va., Aug. 14 (AP)—A street, Nantasket, complained to police today that two girls, about 20 years old, whom he suspected of his home last night, left this morning with his wallet containing $40.

Police said he met the two girls while walking along the beach about midnight.

the scene empty-handed.

Who, pray, could have foretold that triumph of Baldwin diplomacy?

Could anyone have written in advance a naval paraphrase of the Duke of York couplet?

England had a hundred ships, manned by ten thousand men.

She sailed her navy out to sea and sailed it back again.

And yet, in spite of the ignominy, England was quite right in sailing her navy back again if she were not going to accept the Hoare compromise, because the half of Ethiopia which was not given her in that compromise, the southern half, was not worth fighting for.

I do not agree with Lloyd George when he said in the Parliament, "There sit the cowards," but I might have agreed with him if he had said, "There sit the boobs."

WHEN England rejected the Hoare compromise there was nothing for her to do but back ingloriously out of a situation she had not had the wit to take advantage of.

There was nothing for her to do but sail her navy back again and let Italy exult openly and France rejoice inwardly.

There was humiliating, no doubt, but better than to have to war over some sun-baked rocks in Africa.

And, as say the British Cabinet, better than plunging the whole of Europe into war. Undoubtedly—but the whole of Europe would not have gone to war, and the British Cabinet knows it.

France would not have gone to war with Italy to benefit England.

France will never go to war to benefit anybody but herself.

France is the most selfish and the most utterly undependable nation in Europe.

England's alliance with France is not worth the paper that it is written on.

It is not worth the ink it is written with.

England is leaning on a broken reed—a rotten reed.

ALL THE difficulties which England is encountering in Europe, and the much greater difficulties she will surely encounter if she maintains her present course, are due to the fact that she has got off on the wrong foot as far as her European alliances are concerned.

Rothemere is entirely right.

England should have allied herself with the conservative nations of the world instead of with the radicals.

As it is now, England is supporting Communism abroad and will eventually end by getting Communism at home.

Furthermore, she never will, never can get any sincere support from radical nations unless she herself joins the Red riot.

That ought to be obvious to a blind man. It ought even to be discernible to the blind men who rejected the Hoare compromise. It ought to be plain even to the strategists who sailed the indomitable fleet of mighty Albion out to sea and sailed it humiliatingly back again.

THE only firm alliances for England are with the nations which are NOT COMMUNIST.

The only SAFE alliances are with those nations.

The only alliances which will defend not only her territory but her democracy are with those nations.

Beaverbrook sent me his article on the advantages of an alliance between the British Empire and the United States.

I have always advocated in the past such co-operation between English-speaking nations.

I read some years ago at Oglethorpe University, in the State of Georgia (a State which had its beginning as the colony that Oglethorpe, an Englishman, founded), a thesis which was a plea for English and American co-operation for peace and the protection of our common Democratic institution—

But not for riot and Red radicalism.

AMERICA wants no alliance, direct or indirect, with Communist France and Bolshevik Russia. Nor can it afford any co-operation with an English government which has so little foresight, so little democratic principle, so little Anglo-Saxon common sense as to hang its fate—OUR fate—upon the faith of the French and the sympathy and sincerity of Red Radicalism.

As the Boston Evening American-Sunday Advertiser straw ballot reporter concluded his 31st day of a state-wide canvass today, Republican nominees for governor and U. S. Senator, continued to add to their already commanding lead over their Democratic opponents.

Gov. Louis J. Brann, Democratic nominee for U. S. Senator, continued to trail Sen. Wallace H. White, Republican, despite the fact that of 140 votes cast in Westbrook, Brann captured 77 to White's 63.

Lewis O. Barrows, Republican nominee for governor, took 69 votes in the same town to 31 for F. Harold Dubord, Democrat.

In South Wyburn, White topped Brann 14 to 6 out of 20 votes cast; while Barrows took 17 over Dubord's three. In Gorham, the Republican again showed strength, winning 24 votes to Brann's 22 out of 46 votes cast. Barrows topped Dubord 24 to 22.

The standing to date is:
For United States Senator
White 100
Brann 57

of force should suddenly break down. The United States might pay a little attention to that situation, or the United States will soon be within "striking distance" of any nation that may care to strike.

Everybody in Europe knows that the world before long is destined to get some definite information as to the meaning of the airplane in war. That information must come first.

Some of the backward ones in the United States who apparently do not yet know that the airplane is a success.

Wagner's grand failure, having on his pile of gold, grows actually:

"He and possess, let me sleep."

The young Siegfried came along with his sharp sword and that was the end of the dragon.

Lack of power to imagine is a dangerous lack. Also the power to imagine, stupidly, that coast defense "pop-guns" scattered along our shores, or anti-aircraft guns, could have any effect on planes dropping bombs and pouring gas from the belch of 15,000 or 20,000 feet, while flying 200 miles an hour.

Every nation in Europe is thinking, every responsible statesman is discussing airplane dangers and possibilities. Somebody in the United States should take an interest in that question. If he does not do so now, the pot will boil over, and "too much later."

WOMAN Balks at HANGING 10,000 SEE MAN SPRING TRAP

Owensboro, Ky., Aug. 14 (AP)—Before a throng of 10,000 Kainy Betha, 22 Negro, was hanged here today, Sheriff Florence Thompson, assigned Arthur Hanch, former Louisville policeman, to spring the trap.

The Rev. Herman Lammer, a Catholic priest from Louisville, administered last rites to the condemned man before the noose was adjusted. Betha had joined the church after his conviction of attack and murder of a 70-year-old white woman.

Devine County women shortly upon whom fell execution of the death sentence were moved into the prison to spring the trap. She had consorted with prison and other negroes. Betha would have been hanged for a woman in midday. Hanch, however, signed the hangman's board from Betha's face immediately after the Negro was hanged.

Betha still breathed when a few persons from the crowd rushed the noose and pulled it down. The crowd and scattered from the scaffold as spectators of the spectacle.

The crowd estimated at 10,000, was for the most part orderly, except for a few who watched from an automobile parked 50 feet from the gallows.

Hanch spring the trap upon Kainy Betha, 22 Negro, was hanged here today, Sheriff Florence Thompson, assigned Arthur Hanch, former Louisville policeman, to spring the trap.

Dr. Tarr, said the trap was broken easily by the drop. It expressed surprise that the noose had continued to hold on to the condemned man.

The hanging continued a slight movement in a crowd of about 25,000 persons, who gathered by the thousands from the state of Tennessee, Kentucky, Indiana, Ohio, and the first public hanging ever held in this country.

The crowd came in automobiles, wagons and on horseback to the scene.

Throughout the night the police pushed into other quarters to watch Betha die. The crowd milled about the arena surrounding the scene. Several of the crowd after the hanging.

About half of those who fought and shoves to get close to the gallows were women, many girls and children. Batches in armor and toddlers by the more along to the mothers.

Crowd Shouts

An hour before the execution the air was full and excited. The crowd surged through the gates into the space reserved for officials. Towards 5 o'clock, as the sun rose, a curious class, partly composed by the Ohio Negroes, some, some voices, and women, began to be heard, crying:

"Bring him out!"

"Let's get going!"

The crowd began to move and when the execution began, a group of the guards predicted Betha's arrival.

Officers hurried him through the packed spectators to the gallows for the execution. He was bound by the wrists to the gallows.

At the death shot, Betha again faced the crowd and uttered his last words. Hanch, however, signed the hangman's board from Betha's face immediately after the Negro was hanged.

Asked to comment on the arrests and purpose of the meeting, Ely replied:

"No comment."

A. G. VANDERBILT LINKED IN ROMANCE

Savoy, N. Y., Aug. 14 (AP)—Society was speculating today on how long it will be before Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt, regarded as one of the most eligible bachelors between Bar Harbor and Palm Beach, becomes a benedict.

Recently the woman he is thought to be romantically linked with, Miss Jeanne Daniels, of New York, who is the daughter of the late John D. Rockefeller, was seen in the company of Mr. Vanderbilt.

They were seen together last night at the party given by the late John D. Rockefeller, Jr., at his home in New York. The daughter of the late John D. Rockefeller, Jr., was seen in the company of Mr. Vanderbilt.

WONG of Melrose GONE LAUNDRYMAN GETS U. S. JOB

Wong Len, that inscrutable little Chinese laundryman from Melrose has turned up in Washington as a member of the U. S. Immigration Service, it was learned today.

Wong, the first Oriental to ever win a post as a convention delegate in a major political campaign by garnering the majority of votes in Ward 7, Melrose, will act as an interpreter for the service.

The Melrose Son of the Dragon makes a habit of starting his adherents and constituents.

Pledged to support the candidacy of State Treasurer Charles F. Haney at the Springfield convention, Wong literally took all the starch out of his followers when he voted for Paul A. Deane.

When Wong left his laundry on Grove street in Melrose, the primary convention, he put a sign in the window notifying his patrons that he would be back from the political war soon to read their minds.

The shirts now lay in dusty piles in the shelves of his small shop. Wong has gone forever from his cleaning board behind the counter. He's a member of Uncle Sam's service and in all likelihood will remain in that capacity so long as he desires.

Many of his patrons have urged Wong to return in just for a day to "iron out" the situation, but Wong, now that he has tasted the patronage of politics, turned a deaf ear to their protestations.

ACTRESSES TELL OF WPA 'REVELS' OFFICIAL ACCUSED IN "PETTING"

Charges they were forced to be "party girls" for officials and politicians to retain their jobs, and that they unwillingly furnished the feminine scenery for nightclubs, were made today by disgraced actresses of the Works Progress Administration theater project.

One of the actresses, Margaret Colby, told of receiving from one of the theater directors an invitation to come to a downtown hotel. Miss Colby stated the invitation was written on the official stationery of the Works Progress Administration.

When she arrived at the hotel she found the official staged her to "be nice to him." She replied the actresses and three days later she was discharged, she said.

OGLED BY MAN

The girls charged they were forced to undergo "petting" when they put on "stage shows" at downtown hotels and that the men, fat, bald, and fortyish, sat around the room in a semi-circle and ogled them through a screen of cigar smoke.

Eight of the girls charged they were often forced to submit to be taken on a round of nightclub to entertain new promoters. In their project or is political life.

They named a club in Albany street, South End, as the most frequented spot at which they were forced to undergo the onerous obligation of "party make-overs."

Pretty, blonde, Jean Harper, professional model and actress, had tears in her eyes when she related embarrassing incidents to which she was subjected in order to retain her job.

The Harper girl corroborated the testimony of Miss Colby as to the hotel "petting" and the reveals under the blue lights of pain were in Boston "hotels."

Many times, the girls charged, they were forced to put on "stage shows" before a group of men who were laughingly known as "The General Board of Directors." The survey consisted of the girls parading around through adjoining rooms clad in flimsy negligees and slippers in Washington.

MADE COMPLAINTS

Miss Colby said she complained to John T. Griffin, WPA head, who had asked her to take a complete part with Miss Margaret Peck, Works Progress Administration secretary, active in June and that Griffin was suspended for two months for not taking any action.

The actress declared Griffin was reinstated later with a better position and a larger salary.

Miss Colby and Miss Harper both claim they snatched the aid and advice of State Administration Paul Edwards, at the time and were refused an audience.

Now they are determined that their case will be carried to Harry I. Hopkins, Works Progress Administration head in Washington.

The actress and actresses filed their affidavits, demanding a public hearing with Murray Lewis, State street attorney, who will present their claims to the national board of the project and demand a "show-down."

THORPE ANGRY, THREATENS TO BARE DIARY

and flung his defiance at Woodley, who represents the actress. "I have been quite abundant," he said, "but I am not going to receive fair treatment."

Attorney Woodley could not be reached for a statement early today. Despite his being brought word he had left the city.

Meanwhile Mary Astor, beautiful the actress, was being showered with congratulations by her friends who hailed as a victory for her the decision of Judge Goodwin. J. Knight by which she is given custody of four-year-old Marilyn Thorpe nine months of each year. Woodley handled his statement to the press after Superior Judge Goodwin. J. Knight announced a "divided custody" settlement of Miss Astor's right to gain complete control over her daughter.

"Our first move," said Anderson, "will be to file a petition to Judge Knight, as a friend of the court, asking whether Woodley's statement is not in contempt and whether it shows bad faith and an apparent unwillingness to abide by the terms of the agreement."

FILM MODELS ACTION

Anderson's bombshell was hurled less than 12 hours after both warring camps had agreed to a peace treaty, initiated by powerful motion picture interests, under which Miss Astor was to keep the child nine months each year.

The film moguls entered the case when it was apparent the careers of some of their most valuable motion picture stars might be wrecked if the case were allowed to proceed.

Testimony of Miss Astor's "maid" in which she gave "chain ratings" on prominent persons who were known intimately to her, led to her being given custody of the child.

"Woodley's statement indicated a lack of good faith and confidence with the expressed wishes of Judge Knight, who connected both parties to feel that neither had gained an advantage under the terms of the settlement, which rather was for the best interests of the child."

WAS VICTIM OF VICTIM

"There is overwhelming evidence to show the names of his friends whose reputations it was sought to blacken in an effort to prove that Dr. Thorpe was unfit to have custody of his child."

3-Story Fall Only Jars Him

Joseph Abramo, 3, is a lucky youngster. Falling from a third-floor window on the 13th, a roof 18 feet below, caught him, so that he was only jarred and slightly bruised. Joseph is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Dominic Abramo, Cottage street, East Boston.

ment of the agreement made much of the "notoriety" caused by the case.

The statement by Roland Woodley, attorney for Miss Astor, which drew Anderson's ire, asserted Miss Astor was "forced" into the battle and deplored that the contents of her diary were "so scandalously lied outside of the court."

Anderson, replying that "we didn't know we were dealing with that kind of people," said both sides had agreed not to issue any post-settlement statements. Now that one had been issued, Anderson declared he would demand a complete clearing of the facts which Dr. Thorpe previously was "practicing enough" to have withheld because the evidence "might materially harm the mother."

The attorney said he would seek to have Judge Knight read the diary as a basis for his argument that the new should be respected.

"However, I do not think its contents should be made public," he added.

Before Judge Knight urged the attempt to compromise their differences. Dr. Thorpe had sought to prove that Miss Astor was an unfit parent, drinking heavily and going about with many disreputable charges, she asserted Dr. Thorpe already had a wife when she married him and that he was intimate with other women.

KAUFMAN FACES JAIL

Playwright Kaufman, despite pocketed after receiving a subpoena to appear as a witness. Judge Knight has declared he would jail him if he ever came within the jurisdiction of his court.

Miss Astor testified that Dr. Thorpe knew of and condoned her relationship with the lanky Kaufman. Of the diary, Judge Knight said in approving the settlement.

"It is, therefore, an order of the court that the diary be possessed and stored and placed in a depository for safe keeping."

The depository was released to the diary without an order of the court.

Let neither parent feel that either has gained an advantage over the other."

Judge Knight, father of several children, one of them a girl the same age as Marilyn, declared:

"This proceeding has from the very first been obscured by moral sensationalism and by a fever of publicity damaging to both parties. The chief victims, however, is a little child, whose inherent rights and welfare have seemed to escape adequate attention."

HANG VICTIM'S MASK MADE

The death mask taken of the mysterious "Ida Babcock" found dead on the exclusive Cagwell estate on Kirkland street, Cambridge, a victim of strangulation, was completed at State Police headquarters today.

Photographs of the death mask, the first ever made by Massachusetts State police, will be sent throughout the State in an effort to obtain a positive identification of the woman.

The mask was made by police chemist Joseph Walker, who was appointed a trooper and State Officer Anthony Leary.

The woman, at first believed to be a free from a branch of which was hanging an improvised rope made of silk cloth.

Today authorities are inclined to a theory of possible murder. Police say the "theory" is based on the fact that Charles Cagwell, and his sister, Miss Margaret Cagwell, heard a woman scream several times the night before the body was found.

OFFICER EXONERATED IN BRIDE'S KILLING

Reserve Officer Matthew J. Flaherty of the Metropolitan District police was completely exonerated today of blame in the accidental death of his bride of two months, Mrs. Eleanor Carney Flaherty, whom he shot to death, mistaking her for a burglar.

Judge Thomas H. Connolly of District court found no probable cause to hold Flaherty on a charge of manslaughter. Said the judge:

"After hearing police evidence and this young man's story, I am satisfied that the defendant is entitled to complete exoneration. It was an unfortunate affair."

HER FATHER WITH HIM

Flaherty, thin and pale and dressed in civilian clothes, was in tears as the court ordered his release.

At his side, with a hand on his shoulder, stood his dead wife's father, William H. Carney, a Brooklyn letter carrier. Before leaving the courtroom the two men shook hands.

According to Flaherty's story which he repeated on the witness stand today, he accidentally shot his wife in their Newcastle road Brighton home at 2:15 a. m., on August 5.

TEELS OF SHOT

He heard a noise at his bedroom door, he said, and demanded it come who was there. Then he opened the door with his service revolver when he received no answer. This he secured in pitch darkness.

At Flaherty's story which he repeated on the witness stand today, he said, and fell dead without speaking.

He ran outdoors, blowing his police whistle for assistance.

An Al Smith speech says, for the first time in the history of the summer of 1932 the people of America were in debt today. The speaker said that he had seen a genuine depression that had been there for three years blinding money and credit and that it was not only in the United States but in all the world. But the crowd were like our soldier boys against the war, they were not down our farms were bankrupt. Private was disintegrated and the people were not in the streets.

Forced Burden

Beyond these limits, taxing the rich destroys wealth and capital, reducing investment, reducing production, and reducing wages. No administration, before the present administration has so paraded its love for the plain people, capriciously around taxation. But the figures on taxation do not confirm this affection. In the year 1930, under the Republican administration, income taxes and excise taxes, which come generally from the well-to-do, totaled two and a half billion dollars, while the

VOTE CONTEST AS R. I. LEGION MEETS

Providence, R. I., Aug. 14.—Both the Rhode Island Department of the American Legion and its auxiliary will get down to real business of their threeday convention today after registering one of the largest number of delegates in recent years at the Hotel Belmont. More than 400 Legionnaires and as many auxiliary members were registered yesterday.

It was evident this morning that the interest in the election would overshadow all other happenings as supporters of this candidate or that crowded the hotel corridors conferring with delegates. The election will be held tomorrow morning.

Alfred B. Campbell, present auxiliary vice-commander, will be opposed by Frank A. Boyce for the commandership. Boyce is a former junior vice-commander who sought the office last year and was defeated by the present department commander, William H. Beecher.

CORNERED FIGHT

Frank E. McCaffrey, present junior vice-commander, was without an opponent today for the office of senior vice, but there is a two-cornered contest for the office vacated by McCaffrey. Lieutenant John E. Baird of the Rhode Island State Police, Department, American Legion Office, Gordon T. Miller, Commander Harold Ellis of the Providence Valley District, and Thomas C. Stevenson, former commander of the West Shore Division, are in the field.

Edward C. Foster, present commander of the West Shore Division, is expected to replace James J. Clifford, who made a reputation as department treasurer.

The officers who are elected will be installed at a banquet Sunday night by Raymond F. Gates of Providence, Conn., national vice-commander. Another national figure in the legion who will attract the spotlight during the convention is Harry W. Culinary of Topeka, Kansas, a leading contender for the national commandership. He will appear as today's speaker.

WOMEN'S CONTEST

The auxiliary election will get less from contests, although it appeared today that Mrs. Mathis H. Lord of Providence would be named for department presidency. She is now senior vice president. Mrs. Elsie Wray of Riverside will probably be named senior vice with an opponent, as none had named today. Mrs. Dorcas Wenzburg of Westbury and Mrs. Lella Eddy of East

Maine Liquor Evils

Brann Turns on Own Appointee

Augusta, Me., Aug. 14.—The story of the appointment of Mayor Frederick W. Payer, Republican, as chief executive of this city, as an expert attaché of the Liquor Commission, and what happened afterwards, is one of the most amazing chapters in the history of this state's gigantic liquor enterprise.

From Maine's liquor, on July 23, 1935, appointed Mayor Payer, who was trained in accountancy and business administration, the position of being placed in the state liquor commission, the position of being placed in the state liquor commission, the position of being placed in the state liquor commission.

SCIENCE ADVISES AGAINST MEALS LOW IN NEEDED "BULK"

Reports A&P Bread Supplies This Dietary Adjunct

Scientific tests have shown that meals which are low in the proper "bulk" tend to cause common constipation. This condition causes discomfort and may lead to headache, loss of appetite, even serious disease.

Avoid these faulty meals by adding Kellogg's All-Bran to your meals. It supplies generous "bulk" in convenient form. This whole-grain, bran, and germ mixture and contains the vitamins A and C.

The "bulk" in All-Bran is more effective than that found in fruits and vegetables as it does not break down in the body. Two tablespoons daily are usually sufficient. If not relieved this way, consult your doctor.

Kellogg's All-Bran may be served as a cereal with milk or cream. Sprinkle over soups, salads or other cereals. Or work into appetizing muffins, breads or other baked goods. It adds a delicious nutty-cereal flavor to your recipes.

How much better than taking potent medicines—stimulant laxatives. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

THE VIENNESE ROOF ATOP THE FAMOUS ST. REGIS HOTEL IN NEW YORK

duplicate the splendid ballroom of the Imperial Summer Palace in Schönbrunn, Austria. A model of decorative taste and justly famous for the excellence of its choice dishes, The Viennese Roof is a favorite rendezvous of those who wish to escape from the summer heat and enjoy themselves in cool and charming surroundings. Here at the St. Regis, as at other fine dining places from coast to coast, Camels are the preferred cigarette. "Our patrons understand the art of dining well," says Lawrence, the maître d'hôtel of The Viennese Roof. "You can see Camels on nearly every table. They certainly are the most popular cigarette at The Viennese Roof."

CHAMPION DIVER caught by the camera in mid-air. Here's Mickey Riley, long-time champion of the springboard. Like champions in every phase of sport, Mickey is a loyal Camel smoker. "I always smoke Camels," he says. "Camels help my digestion. I enjoy them at my meals, and afterwards I just settle back with Camels—and it's a pretty good world. Boy, Camels have a great taste!" Camels never get on your nerves—never tire your taste.

AS EVERY Camel smoker knows, Camels at mealtime help to create a cheery sense of well-being. You eat with relish—digest with greater ease. For it is a fact that Camels assist the normal process of digestion. They increase the flow of digestive fluids... alkaline digestive fluids... in a pleasant way.

Like Frank Buck, Lee Gehlbach, Mickey Riley, Bill Tilden, Tony Manero, Willie Hoppe, and millions of other discriminating smokers who prefer Camels and recommend them, you too will find Camels an enjoyable aid in easing the tension of modern life. With their "lift"... their aid to digestion... and their mild, rich flavor, Camels do indeed set you right! And Camels' firm packing assures no loose particles.

Each Camel at mealtime adds its measure of cheer
...stimulates digestion...increases alkalinity. So—

"For Digestion's Sake... Smoke Camels"

MRS. NICHOLAS PENNIMAN, III, charming Baltimore business, always has Camels on the table when entertaining. "I enjoy Camels myself and most of my friends prefer them," she says. "Camels taste so good. I've noticed they help digestion too."

"LIKE SO MANY OF THE GIRLS in association with I prefer mild cigarette—Camels," says Mrs. Frances Mott, machine operator. "I smoke Camels a lot, with my meals and after them too. They are swell! Camels give me a kind of cheer, sooth feeling. And I like the mild, delicate Camel fragrance."

COSTLIER TOBACCOS

Camels are made from finer, MORE EXPENSIVE TOBACCOS—Turkish and Domestic—than any other popular brand.

AMERICA'S NO. 1 TEST PILOT. Lee Gehlbach has traveled faster than any other living man. He has been 500 and 600 miles an hour when he does his daring "power dive." Think of the tremendous strain this terrific pace puts on his digestion. Yet afterwards he eats heartily—and smokes Camels. Lee says: "I smoke Camels while eating and afterwards. Camels keep my digestion tuned up and running as smooth as a modern engine. Camels have the mildness I demand in a cigarette. They don't faze my nerves."

1. The first step is to identify the key components of the system. This includes understanding the hardware, software, and data involved.

2. The second step is to define the requirements. This involves determining what the system is intended to do and what it must be able to handle.

3. The third step is to design the system. This includes creating a detailed plan of how the system will be built and how it will be tested.

4. The fourth step is to implement the system. This involves building the system according to the design and testing it to ensure it meets the requirements.

5. The fifth step is to maintain the system. This involves keeping the system up-to-date and ensuring it continues to meet the requirements over time.

Lord dismissed the argument. The Chamber would maintain that the defendant's failure to produce a back stained slip of evidence was not due to the origin. There he pointed out for the defense House with the apparent intent to cause the jury to believe that the defendant was in fact the author of the letter. The jury was instructed to find the defendant guilty of the crime.

From the above discussion, we can see that the two different forms of the wave function ψ are not equivalent. The wave function ψ is not a scalar but a vector. The wave function ψ is a vector in the Hilbert space. The wave function ψ is a vector in the Hilbert space. The wave function ψ is a vector in the Hilbert space.

Simone Simon Headed For Screen Stardom

BY HARRIET PARSONS
Substituting for Louella Parsons During the Latter's Vacation

Los Angeles, Aug. 14—According to rumor, there was a time when Darryl Zanuck would like to have torn up Simone Simon's contract. Now, according to fact, he HAS torn it up—to give the little French stormy petrel a brand new deal. Figuring that Simone will be box office dynamite after the release of "Girl's Dormitory," Zanuck has closed a deal with her agents, Feldman-Blum-Young, which spells a starlit future for the sensational young newcomer.
